Section 5: Enterprise Database Architecture & Data Security

5.1 Data Classification Schema

Every enterprise data store, table, schema, and object managed across AWS, Azure, on-premise clusters, and analytics lakes must be indexed under the corporate classification framework:

Class	Description	Examples	Mandated Security Controls
Class 1: Restricted	High-impact operational and identity data.	PII, PHI, Payment Cards, Passwords, Private Keys.	AES-256 at rest, strict TLS 1.3, field-level masking, MFA.
Class 2: Confidential	Business-sensitive corporate intellectual assets.	Source code, internal APIs, financial forecasts.	Encrypted storage, role-based IAM, audit log ingestion.
Class 3: Internal	Operational non-sensitive company communication.	Org charts, handbook texts, general tickets.	Internal network access, SSO authentication.
Class 4: Public	Authorized outward-facing collateral.	Press releases, whitepapers, open marketing.	Integrity protection, standard CDN distribution.

5.2 Database Access Control (RBAC & Least Privilege)

Direct connection to production databases via personal workstations is strictly forbidden. Database administration is managed under rigid access controls:

- Least Privilege Enforcement: Production service accounts are restricted to narrow schema privileges (e.g., no DROP or ALTER in application pools).
- Just-In-Time (JIT) Elevation: Temporary administrative privileges require ticket-backed peer approval (Dual-Control) valid for a window of max 4 hours.
- Bastion Architecture: Database endpoints are private, reachable only through hardened Bastion jump hosts running Session Recording and SSH certificate validation.

5.3 Cryptographic Standards for Stored and In-Transit Data

All production databases (PostgreSQL, MySQL, MongoDB, Oracle, DynamoDB) must implement transparent data encryption (TDE) or block-level storage volume encryption using FIPS 140-2 validated AES-256 algorithms. Keys must be rotated every 90 days via Enterprise KMS. Network communication must enforce TLS 1.3 exclusively.

Section 5.4: Disaster Recovery, Retention & Audit Logs

5.4.1 High Availability, Backup Cadence & Disaster Recovery

The disaster recovery tier establishes unambiguous service thresholds based on database tier classification:

Tier Category	Database Workload	Recovery Point (RPO)	Recovery Time (RTO)
Tier 0: Mission Critical	Core Payment, Transaction Ledgers, Auth	≤ 0 Seconds (Zero Data Loss)	≤ 15 Minutes (Auto-failover)
Tier 1: Business Vital	Customer Data, Orders, Operations	≤ 15 Minutes	≤ 2 Hours
Tier 2: Analytical	Data Warehouses, Reporting, Logs	≤ 24 Hours	≤ 12 Hours

5.4.2 Immutable Audit Trails & Retention Schedules

Database access and query logs must capture every write, schema modification, and administrative escalation. Logs must be streamed immediately to a dedicated, write-once-read-many (WORM) compliant S3 bucket:

- Log Retention Duration: Access records and forensic query logs must be retained for a mandatory minimum of 7 years for financial records and 3 years for general access history.
- Tamper Proofing: Audit logs are signed with cryptographic checksum hashes every 60 minutes to prevent retroactive alteration.

INCIDENT RESPONSE: DATA BREACH PROTOCOL (GDPR / PRIVACY)

In the event of suspected unauthorized exfiltration or exposure of Class 1 Restricted Data, the Data Protection Officer (DPO) and InfoSec Lead must be alerted within 1 hour. Statutory notifications to designated regulatory authorities and impacted subjects must be submitted within 72 hours as mandated by international privacy standards.

Document Sign-off and Annual Attestation

This master policy compendium is maintained under continuous change management. Revisions require unreserved majority ratification by the Chief Human Resources Officer (CHRO), General Counsel, Chief Information Security Officer (CISO), and the Executive Board.
